National Education Policy 2020:

MICT, an Autonomous Institute, wholeheartedly embraces the spirit of the National Education Policy 2020 (NEP), translating its objectives into the curriculum. To cultivate multi-disciplinary education, the Institute mandates open electives across diverse specializations from the fifth semester onward. Additionally, the institution introduces courses like C Programming and Python programming in the Iyear to bolster students' employability and coding skills. Revamped evaluation emphasizes ongoing assessment, integrating course projects across all subjects in the new curriculum.

Sustained Institutional Growth

The institution recognizes the pivotal role institutional growth plays in delivering quality education. To this end, MICT has established mechanisms for closely monitoring academic and administrative procedures. These mechanisms are designed to augment existing processes and facilitate comprehensive growth by prioritizing knowledge dissemination, research, education, and outreach. Committees such as the Academic Audit Committee, the Research and Development Committee, and the Career Development Committee oversee and evaluate key areas to ensure sustainable institutional progress.

Decentralization and Participation in Institutional Governance

MICT advocates decentralized and participatory governance, placing a strong emphasis on collaborative administration involving all stakeholders. Leveraging the expertise of its staff, the institution entrusts various administrative responsibilities to individuals across levels. This participatory approach extends to students who engage in institutional governance through representative roles on academic and administrative bodies and committees. This hierarchical structure is instrumental in effective delegation of responsibilities, ensuring the institution's seamless operation.

Organization Chart

With an unwavering commitment to transparency, excellence, participatory leadership, and hierarchical delegation, MICT adheres to an organizational structure that optimizes governance and management. This organogram, thoughtfully crafted to incorporate all stakeholders, especially students, ensures an efficient and effective administrative framework.
